

...PARTICIPANTS IN BEAUTY CONTEST...

Miss Rosamond Burdine

TO SELECT "QUEEN" WHO WILL PRESIDE OVER HARVEST JUBILEE AT THE STATE FAIR.

MISS LOU ELLEN LIGON TO REPRESENT ANDERSON

On this page The Intelligencer reproduces the pictures of Misses Lou Ellen Ligon, Rosamond Burdine, Carrie Fretwell, Frances Tribble and Lola Dell Ramsey, nominees in the Beauty Contest which was held to select the most beautiful young lady to represent Anderson county in a state-wide contest for the purpose of selecting the prettiest girl in South Carolina to reign over the Harvest Jubilee which will be held in Columbia this fall during the State Fair.

The standing of the candidates at the close of the contest was as follows:

Miss Rosamond Burdine.....18,250
Miss Carrie Fretwell.....10,060
Miss Frances Tribble.....2,930
Miss Lola Dell Ramsey.....1,680

As will be seen from the figures above Miss Ligon won by 15,290 majority over the next leading candidate, Miss Rosamond Burdine, and will, therefore, represent this county in the state-wide contest.

Miss Ligon's photograph has been forwarded to the publicity committee of the Harvest Jubilee, and with others will be judged as to who is the most beautiful young lady in the state. It has not yet been definitely decided how the decision will be made between the photographs but it will either be by a voting contest run in papers of the state, somewhat on the same principle as the contest conducted by The Intelligencer, or else the art teachers of the leading colleges of the state will be asked to make the selection.

The young lady selected in the state-wide contest will be crowned "Queen" of the Harvest Jubilee and will be equipped with an elaborate trousseau, befitting her royal beauty and grace, and will sit in state on a beautifully decorated "float" in the parade attended by lovely maids of honor.

The above is a likeness of Miss Lou Ellen Ligon, daughter of Mrs. T. C. Ligon of this city, who was selected to represent Anderson county in a state-wide contest to choose the most beautiful young lady in South Carolina to reign as "Queen" over the Harvest Jubilee in Columbia during the State Fair.

No other county in the state will be able to select anyone more fitted for the place of honor than Miss Ligon. She is indeed very beautiful and is a young lady of many personal charms and talent. She is a senior at Winthrop College and her popularity is attested to by the large number of votes she received in the contest.

Fashions and Household Hints

BY SARAH M'CRADY TRESGOT

Some of the new fall fashions are most attractive and very sensible. One of the newest things is the auto sole silk coat of the new transparent featherweight oil silk. A rain and dust proof coat, particularly suitable for traveling and automobiling, it comes in all colors and is extremely stylish and very comfortable.

The "Kadmaave" dress for girls comes in navy blue or black serge, the new model has yoke front and back, collar of same material, tailor stitched, and a detachable collar of white satin silk, the cuffs are deep, the skirt plaited with panel back and front. Patch pockets, and a small flat silk bow fastening the collar completes this very fetching costume.

The black chiffon taffeta waist, with white collar and cuffs, and strap across front of the taffeta forming the yoke and tie, is a very charming affair they can be made in any color, but black and white is the fashionable combination at present.

The styles are not so very complicated that a clever girl with nimble fingers and good taste could not copy the best models, at really very little cost. It is poor economy to buy cheap highly colored material. Good material is always best and good taste is better. A dress that shrinks at you across the street is too conspicuous to be either pretty or attractive.

A dainty well dressed woman is a pleasant sight always but her costume particularly on the skirt, must be quiet in color, and modest in cut. One should be very careful not to wear the wrong thing at the wrong time.

Chiffons and silks, laces and elaborate embroidery are not for morning wear, and strictly tailored suits, or simple tub gowns, are fashionable for shopping. The up-to-date business woman wears the usual dark skirt and plain shirt waists a practical and useful working attire, but lace waists, organdie, and silk dresses are bad form, when worn in the morning, so also is any thing in the shape of jewelry.

It is the details in dress that mark the woman of perfect taste, and elegant style.

Embroidery.
The needle and handkerchief cases I spoke of last week are really charming little gifts, and not hard to make. A yard of tan colored linen will make many. Take a strip of material ten by five inches, on one end embroider a spray of flowers an initial. A wreath of small crimson roses, with leaves, and stems in two shades of green, is extremely pretty on the tan linen when you have finished the embroidery and ironed it carefully on the wrong side, cut two pieces of paste board, they must be the exact size, and the edges perfectly straight, baste the linen smoothly on them turning a half inch down on every side of the card board the two pieces of which must not touch by the back as they fold together like a book. Line with a shade of satin or silk to match the embroidery, remnants of wide ribbon are excellent for that purpose. Whip lining and linen cover neatly together in the needle cases, put leaves of flannel through a ribbon hand ana tie with a bow. The handkerchief case must have the ribbon straight across from end to end, tacking it to the case in the middle and on each edge leaving enough on each side to tie together. After you slip the handkerchiefs through the band formed by the ribbon on each side.

This is a specially nice gift for those who travel much as it goes so easily in a suit case and takes up such little room.

Quaint little baskets filled with flowers and fruit done in cross stitch is very effective on the cases. You sew a square of canvass on the linen and work through that, pulling out the threads of canvass when you have finished. Be very careful to work every thread or rather every stitch in the same direction, they must all crease in the same way, or the work will be most unsightly.

Anyone who is lucky enough to own old pieces of mahogany and walnut ought to rejoice. The amazing part of it is, that instead of rejoicing they often sell these treasures, and buy atrociously in the new cheap varnished furniture, that simply about their hideousness aloud. These precious
